History of corner establishment since Original Government Survey

A survey by W. Kenyon in March of 1886 noted the original bearing tree, but no new monument set. In his survey of May 1904 Fred Holden showed buried crockery at this corner. In a later survey dated August 31 and September 1, 1904 he mentioned only bearing trees.

Description of corner evidence found:

None of the bearing trees (original or Holden's) were found. Approximately one-half pint of broken crockery was found buried one to one and one-half feet deep at a location approximately three feet East and one foot North of the prorated location for this corner.
